Haere mai.

Welcome

As we enter our third year of the Champions for Change programme here in Aotearoa New Zealand, we are thrilled by the progress we are individually leading within our spheres of influence, and the collective impact we are having on our shared kaupapa, commitments.

Together, we remain committed to our vision of a new generation of diverse private and public sector leaders driving Aotearoa New Zealand's economic growth and social prosperity. Building inclusive work environments is not about how we change people, but how we change ourselves and our environments to ensure a diverse workforce can flourish.

We remain focused on our four strategic areas of commitment, to:

- 1. Share the Case for Change: We commit to individually raising awareness of the business value of inclusion and diversity, including to our organisations, our sectors, and our wider spheres of influence.
- 2. Create Measurement and Accountability: We commit to holding ourselves accountable, internally and externally, for change.
- 3. Mainstream Inclusive and Flexible Workplaces: We commit to leading work cultures that are inclusive and flexible, allowing individuals to bring their whole, authentic selves to work.
- 4. Grow Talent Pools and Diverse Leadership Capability: We commit to investing in new initiatives to bring diverse people into our organisations, and to supporting their development into leaders through an inclusive culture.

This 2018-19 Work Plan highlights our achievements to date in each of these four work streams, and outlines the specific areas of focus we will Champion as a group over the next 18 months. Our next set of actions aim to build on our successes, while getting more targeted on our individual leadership actions.

Thank you again for your individual action that contributes to our collective impact.

Nā māua noa, nā

Michele Embling and David McClean
Co-Chairs, Champions for Change

Building inclusive work places is not about how we change people, but how we change ourselves and our environments, to ensure a diverse workforce can flourish.

Kaupapa.

The foundations for our actions

Here's how we'll work to achieve our vision in 2018-19

SHARE THE CASE FOR CHANGE

We commit to individually raising awareness of the business value of inclusion and diversity, including to our organisations, our sectors, and our wider spheres of influence.

OBJECTIVES

- Challenge the status quo to communicate the value of inclusion and diversity
- Create and share relevant research, resources and case studies to build on, and communicate, the case for change
- Proactively share stories of both successes and challenges within the Champions group, to role model action-taking and to provide group learning opportunities

WHAT WE'VE ACHIEVED

- Collated relevant research, resources and case studies to share within our organisations, sectors and wider business environments (resources hosted on both the Champions for Change website and through the Flexibility Toolkit, with 17,500 unique visits to these sites achieved since launch*).
- Shared success stories and insights as leaders and published our 2018 Progress Report. Extensive media coverage achieved.
- Participated and lead conversations at a number of events where inclusion and diversity were key themes.
- Hosted special interest Champion events, including interactive peer-to-peer discussions on:
 - agile work environments
 - the need to consider domestic and family violence as a workplace issue
 - creating inclusive cultures to support a diverse workplace.
- Hosted relevant business leaders to share their personal cases for change, including:
 - Luke Sayers, CEO PwC Australia and Male Champion of Change
 - Inga Beale, Lloyds CEO and Diversity Champion
 - Elizabeth Broderick, founder Male Champions of Change.

WHAT WE'RE WORKING ON FOR 2018-19

- Building resources to support driving the case for change, and increasing our visibility as Champions
- Completing individual Leadership Shadow profiles, to gain insights and set goals for improving our capacity as leaders to lead inclusive and diverse workplaces
- Developing a Panel Pledge to encourage increased diversity on New Zealand speaking panels

*Flexibility Toolkit launched in September 2017. Data summary as at 31 December 2017.

CREATE MEASUREMENT + ACCOUNTABILITY

We commit to holding ourselves accountable, internally and externally, for change.

OBJECTIVES

- Deliver gender and ethnicity reporting, so that individually and collectively we have a stronger understanding of our diversity metrics and can track our progress
- Become a leading voice on diversity reporting
- Work with key stakeholders to explore how pay equity issues should be sensibly addressed

WHAT WE'VE ACHIEVED

- Developed a Champions for Change Diversity Reporting Framework to track and measure both gender and ethnicity data.
- Commenced Diversity Reporting for the first reporting year (1 April 2017 – 31 March 2018), achieving 100% commitment from all Champion organisations to report on both gender and ethnicity within two years.
- Shared Reporting Framework methodology publicly to allow organisations outside of Champions for Change to also adopt the framework as part of voluntary reporting efforts (full Diversity Reporting Framework and supporting materials available on the Champions for Change website)

WHAT WE'RE WORKING ON FOR 2018-19

- Developing a standardised methodology for presenting and sharing our gender and ethnicity data (based on year one data).
- Benchmarking industry standards and trends, to apply learnings locally to advance our ability to collate and share meaningful diversity data.
- Exploring extended reporting categories, including working with key stakeholders to explore how pay equity issues should be sensibly addressed (i.e. Ministry for Women Gender Pay Gap Reporting Guidelines)

MAINSTREAM INCLUSIVE AND FLEXIBLE WORKPLACES

We commit to leading work cultures that are inclusive and flexible, allowing individuals to bring their whole, authentic selves to work.

OBJECTIVES

- Lead inclusive and flexible work cultures that attract, maintain and unlock productivity and maximum potential from top talent
- Share research, tools and insights for leaders that support the leadership of inclusive workplaces - including shared experience on both the benefits and challenges

WHAT WE'VE ACHIEVED

- Launched the online Flexibility Toolkit, achieving strong user feedback and high site engagement. The first of its kind in the New Zealand market, the toolkit supports Champions and other business leaders with the tools to ensure their organisations have inclusive and flexible work cultures and practices in place.
- Reported flexible work case studies to shift perceptions about flexible work practices and where and to whom they apply – including shared experience on both the benefits and challenges. All case studies are available via the online toolkit.
- Hosted an experiential and special interest Champion session on creating inclusive environments to support a diverse workplace.
- 85% of Champion organisations have formal workplace flexibility strategy, policy and procedures in place, and 48% have an “all roles flexible” policy in place*.

WHAT WE'RE WORKING ON FOR 2018-19

- Conducting and launching industry research, in partnership with Global Women and Deloitte, that takes a closer look at inclusive workplace cultures in Aotearoa New Zealand.
- Developing an ‘Inclusive Cultures’ set of tools for leaders, off the back of the industry research.
- Extending our focus on inclusive and flexible work cultures, including: health and safety considerations for working at home; flexibility in operational environments (outside of the corporate office); exploring the re-design of jobs (can senior leadership roles be managed on a job-share basis); cultural and wellness considerations for flexible working

*Percentage based on response rate of 70% of Champion organisations

GROW TALENT POOLS AND DIVERSE LEADERSHIP CAPABILITY

We commit to investing in new initiatives to bring diverse people into our organisations, and to supporting their development into leaders through an inclusive culture.

OBJECTIVES

- Support recruitment and development pathways for a new generation of diverse leaders driving Aotearoa New Zealand's future economic growth and social prosperity.
- Understand and address the barriers for diverse employee groups in entering and succeeding at work in corporate New Zealand.

WHAT WE'VE ACHIEVED

- Launched TupuToa – a national internship and early career development programme that assists corporate partners to identify, develop and retain high-potential Maori and Pasifika graduates. Now a standalone entity, TupuToa has over 20 establishment partners and a strong cohort of more than 30 graduates and 75 in year two.
- Launched the Global Women Activate Leaders Programme – a national programme designed to lift middle management to the next phase of their career through driving a mind-set shift, inspiring career trajectory and helping them to move from emerging to game-changing leaders. We now have 210 mid-career leaders in the Activate cohort for 2017-18. Continued support of Breakthrough Leaders Programme, with more than 180 alumnae.

WHAT WE'RE WORKING ON FOR 2018-19

- Hosting a Champion and Iwi leaders engagement session and networking dinner, to provide an opportunity for these leaders to explore business opportunities in a bi-cultural nation, following completion of Treaty settlements. The session will focus on ideas and initiatives Champions can implement to more successfully achieve business outcomes with a bi-cultural focus.
- Showcasing affiliate diversity programmes (such as TupuToa, Rainbow Tick, UN Women, BeAccessible etc) through our new Champions for Change website, to raise awareness and encourage access to existing programmes and pathways to develop diverse leadership.
